Madagascar is home to one of the most unusual mammalian assemblages on Earth and is often referred to as the 'Eighth Continent'. Its exceptional fauna and flora have evolved over millions of years of isolation. Madagascar has a remarkable diversity of habitats and associated flora, covering an area of about 587 000km². It is the world's fourth largest island (after Greenland, New Guinea and Borneo), yet its variety rivals that of an entire continent. This legendary uniqueness is nowhere better reflected than in its mammals where every native terrestrial species, of which there are 148, is endemic to the island and found nowhere else on the planet! Apart from the amazing diversity of mammals, Madagascar is also world renowned for its endemic birds. Of the two hundred species regularly recorded here, no fewer than one hundred and forty are endemic or near endemic. But the wonder of Madagascar extends well beyond its mammals and its avifauna to the colourful chameleons and fascinating flora of this appropriately named "laboratory of evolution".

LOCATION: MASOALA NATIONAL PARK

3 NIGHTS

Masoala National Park is the largest protected area in Madagascar. A good variety of lemur species can be found in these forests and by day you have the chance of locating groups of White-fronted Brown Lemur and the highly sought-after Red Ruffed Lemur, which are confined entirely to the lowland rainforests of the Masoala. The Masoala is also an excellent place to find the beautiful Lowland Streaked Tenrec while you should also encounter Eastern Red Forest Rat. These forests are furthermore home to an amazing diversity of bird species which include a large variety of Vangas, Scaly and Pitta-like Ground Rollers, Madagascar Crested Ibis and Red-breasted Coua. The peninsula's most famous avian denizen however is the regal Helmet Vanga, which you stand a good chance of finding during your forest explorations. Other species that you may also find include a variety of snakes including Ground and Tree Boas and the stunning Panther Chameleon. Insects include the bizarre Giraffe-necked Beetle, superbly camouflaged giant stick insects and some exceptional caterpillars. Night walks here can be extremely interesting and with luck you may locate a few lemur species such as Seal's Sportive Lemur, Greater Dwarf Lemur, Brown Mouse Lemur and Eastern Fork-marked Lemur. There will also be plenty of time to enjoy the stunning coastline with walks along the beach, splendid snorkelling, kayaking and sundowners.

LOCATION: ANJAJAVY

Enjoying a remote and astoundingly beautiful location on Madagascar's northwest coastline, Anjajavy Reserve is a secluded fishing village made up of wilderness beaches and azure waters backed by a spectacular example of a dry deciduous forest and mangroves. There is some fantastic wildlife to be found in this 450 hectare reserve. One of the many highlights is the Valley of Baobabs. Undoubtedly, the most magical aspect of Anjajavy are the groups of delightful dancing and leaping Coquerel's Sifakas. It is absolute nirvana with up-close viewing of lemurs and many birds in the surrounding trees! Night walks are very productive – nocturnal lemurs include Golden Brown Mouse Lemur, Grey Mouse Lemur and Milne-Edwards Sportive Lemur. Other creatures that you may well encounter on your explorations include the Oustalet's Chameleon, Collared Iguana, Hairy Crabs and Girdle-Tailed Lizard to name a few. Among the avian highlights are the Madagascar Fish Eagle, Sacred and Madagascar Crested Ibis, Crested Coua, Sickle-Billed Vanga, Bee-eaters and hoopoes galore, and dozens of Grey-headed Lovebirds. This reserve is also known to have in excess of 1,800 flora species. One may also be lucky enough to spot the country's largest carnivore, the Fossa, which with similar features to large felines, is actually part of the mongoose family. This seductive, Puma-like animal roams the forest throughout the day and night. In these forested areas larger prey species, such as lemurs, often ambushed at night whilst asleep, may comprise more than half of the Fossa's diet.

LOCATION: NOSY ANKAO 3 NIGHTS

Miavana is situated on Nosy Ankao, the largest of the five islands making up approximately 15,000 hectares of a reef-protected archipelago, which along with the adjacent mainland, makes up the Loky Manambato Protected Area. The islands are generously served with the fresh and warm Indian Ocean currents and protected by the reefs which surround them. Nosy Ankao has gorgeous views of the ocean as well as the picturesque foothills and mountains of the north eastern Madagascan mainland approximately 3.5 away. In the Malagasy language the name Miavana means "to bring together" and it is through great care, knowledge and charm that the people of this magnificent destination bring together the wild beauty of Madagascar. There is a treasure trove of bays, beaches and lagoons providing a perfect platform for 'Blue Safaris'; a wonderful mix of guided water and land activities. There may be opportunities to watch Turtles nesting and laying their eggs or perhaps even getting to witness the young Turtle hatchlings make their way down to the ocean. Forest walks provide fantastic views of some of the unique Lemurs of Madagascar, namely the Golden Crowned Sifaka, Crowned Lemur and the all-black Perrier's Sifaka. On a nearby deserted island Manamphao, one may also get to see one of the largest nesting Tern sites in the Indian Ocean. To compliment the wildlife, which also includes Whale, Dolphin and Manta Ray watching, scuba diving and snorkelling in the azure warm waters, along with kite surfing and fishing, at this island sanctuary, there are also paradisiacal powder white beaches and Madagascar's finest eco luxury lodge.

ACCOMMODATION: TIME + TIDE MIAVANA

With Madagascar's history created from a rich tapestry of diverse human immigrants and unique and endemic animal and plant species, it is fitting that this is reflected in the design of this island paradise. The natural elements of water, sand and air merge elegantly with luxurious interiors unique to Madagascar and local stone and palm branch bring texture to every corner of the Villa. Strung out along the island, each of the 14 Villas has direct access to the white sandy beaches, turquoise water and coral reefs. The colours of the sand, wood and water have been brought inside the Villas and appear in hand dyed curtains, hand crafted chairs, and light fittings resembling old glass buoys. Every 1, 2 and 3 master bedroom Villa has their own kitchenette, lounge, private deck and pool overlooking the Indian Ocean and Madagascar mainland in the distance. Each Villa also has an ensuited study which can be turned into a child's bedroom for up to 2 children under 18. The main 'piazza' or village has many attractions from the glittering infinity pool and rooftop bar, to your choice of private dining in the beach pizzeria, lounge or Italian-inspired indoor grotto and cellar. With one of the most sublime views in the world, it will be hard to leave the multitude of relaxing spaces and head out on one of the day's recommended activities. Unlock your imagination and explore the wealth of treasures we've collected from around Madagascar in our museum or Cabinet de Curiosities - from an elephant bird egg to dinosaur bones and sunken treasure.
